V. YOUR CHILDREN AND PREGNANCIES:

While we believe it is unlikely that children of Wilms tumor survivors are at increased risk for the thirteen rare conditions listed below, it is important for us to identify if any have developed.

- Wilms tumor
- Hypospadias (urethra where urine exits is angled differently – males only)
- Sarcoma (bone or soft tissue cancer)
- Congenital heart defect (problem with heart that you are born with)
- Denys-Drash syndrome (kidney failure problem you are born with)
- Cryptorchism (testicles are not descended into scrotal sac and need surgery to have them placed there)
- Germ cell tumor (cancer of the reproductive organs, but can also be at the base of the spine or in the chest)
- Aniridia (born without iris in the eye)
- Polycystic disease of the kidney (fluid sacs in the kidneys causing them not to work right)
- Hemihypertrophy (one side of any part of the body noticeably larger than the other)
- Shortened limbs (arms or legs that are shorter than they should be)
- Beckwith-Wiedemann syndrome (large tongue, low blood sugar at birth and malformed belly button or wall of belly)
- Turner's syndrome (short, wide neck, abnormal ovaries girls can be born with – one X chromosome is missing in the cells)

For each child please note if any of these conditions have been diagnosed. Also, please note other conditions of importance. (Please note any children who are adopted or non-biological.)
